FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA
ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,
Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention

EDITORIAL BRIEFS

The Crafton oil boom resembles somewhat a toy balloon that has been stepped on.

The decrease of the public debt during the month of December was $3,128,093.39.

LYCOMING COUNTY, has a township called Nippenose. It ought to be a great place for the grip.

OUR friends in the Methodist ministry who are agitating a third term for pastors, want to go a trifle slow. It's a regular political Jonah. Look at Ohio.

The republicans of Pennsylvania could desire no kinder fortune than the nomination of Hon. William A. Wallace as the democratic candidate for governor.

Two girls burglarized a house at Easton. They worked with the electric lights turned on. The family went away and forgot to let a mouse loose in the house.

EASTERN people can scarcely credit the intelligence of snow bound trains that comes from the wild west. But this is a great country and it treats its inhabitants to all sorts of weather.

THE temperature for the month of December shows that the whole country east of the Rockies has had unusually warm weather, the temperature averaging 10° higher than common.

THE New York Board of Health speaks of a gripe as "a bad cold heightened by a versatile imagination." That is the form in which it has attacked many Williamsport people.

It will strike most people that the 67-year-old man who came all the way from Kansas to this State to elope with a 17-year-old girl needs a heated interview with the girl's father or big brother.

THE Treasury statement shows that there was a net increase of $13,016,294 circulation during the month of December. The probability is that the present month will show a still larger increase.

DURING the year 1889 the Minneapolis mills ground 6,086,865 barrels of flour. Their great importance among food-producers of the country is obvious, and they are now in control of a syndicate of foreigners.

THE situation of the Punksutawney coal strike is decidedly serious. The company, by means of 140 Pinkerton men, is about to evict the 1,500 strikers with their families. Arbitration has an excellent chance to get in its work.

No young woman who is thoughtful of her future happiness will marry a man who is a comparative stranger, one of whose past history she knows nothing. Many of the divorce suits that now burden our courts arise from the foolish haste in which young girls marry, and there are thousands of broken-hearted women in this country whose misery is the result of their own folly.

THE next annual meeting of the American Protective Tariff League for the election of officers and the transaction of business will be held in New York on the afternoon of Friday the 24th of January. The second annual dinner of the league will be held at Delmonico's on the evening of the same day. Addresses will be made by prominent Protectionists and every effort will be made to repeat if not surpass the great success of last year.

A FREE trade newspaper recently propounded the following question: "Why did Andrew Carnegie remove his iron and steel works from Scotland to this country?" The query coming under the notice of Mr. Carnegie, he makes the following reply: "I never had any works in Scotland. Was brought here by my parents when only 11 years of age. Hadn't a dollar, nor they many." Mr. Carnegie might have added that he never would have owned any iron and steel works had he not come to the United States where every man who is brainy and economical has a chance to succeed.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular Correspondent.

The President took advantage of his holiday to make a little trip in pursuit of recreation and fresh air. He went down the Patomac with a small party of friends on a steam yacht, and after shooting as many wild ducks as they cared to, the party proceeded down to the mouth of the James river, and up that stream to Richmond, stopping on the way at Lower Brandon, the ancestral home of the Harrison family. The President returned from Richmond on a late train Saturday night, and expressed himself to your correspondent as having had a delightful time. He was particularly pleased with his reception at Richmond.

Secretary Proctor and Senator Morrill left here this morning for South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of examining the facilities of the iron works at that place for making heavy guns for the Army. They are expected to return to-morrow.

Secretary Tracy says there is not the slightest foundation for the sensational story sent out from here by the correspondent of a New York paper alleging that our new squadron of warships had been sent to Lisbon to enforce certain demands that this Government had made upon Portugal. The squadron stopped first at Lisbon simply because it had been arranged for it.

Senator Hoar's committee on our relations with Canada, and Senator Vest's committee on the dressed beef traffic are both in New York hunting information, and it is expected that they will remain there the greater part of this week.

Secretary Tracy has formally accepted the new cruiser "Baltimore," and thereby our navy has secured the best vessel of its kind afloat.

Everything is in readiness for the official New Year's reception at the White House, and owing to the large number of foreigners now here it is expected to be unusually brilliant. The following will be the programme: 'At 11 a. m.—The President will receive the Vice President, the members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, the members of the Three America's Congress, the International Maritime conference, and the Venezuela claims commission.

At 11.15 a. m.—The Supreme Court of the U. S. The Court of claims and the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. At 11.25 a. m.—Senators and Representatives, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, ex-members of the cabinet, and ex-members of the U. S. At 11.40 a. m.—Officers of the Army, Navy and Marine corps. At 12 m.—Regents and Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, Civil Service Commissioners, Interstate commerce commissioners, Assistant Secretaries of the departments, commissioner of Labor, and heads of bureaus of the departments.

At 12.15, m.—Associated veterans of the Mexican war, Grand Army of the Republic and Loyal Legion. At 12.55 p. m.—Reception of citizens lasting until 2 o'clock.

Chairman McKinley, of the House Ways and Means committee has already fairly earned the title of "hustler." His committee has held daily sessions since the day after Christmas day, in order that all industries interested in the new tariff bill may have a hearing. The coal and iron men have been the best represented so far. Mr. McKinley is confident that the new bill will be completed and reported to the House early in February. If Mr. McKinley does as well on the floor of the House as he has done in the committee room, and there is no reason to think that he will not, he is certain to become one of the most popular republicans in the country before the Fifty-first Congress expires. He has all of the qualities necessary in a leader of men, and if he keeps his health it is extremely probable that his mail will some day be addressed to the White House. Not the least of his good qualities is knowing how to wait and bide his time.

Ex-Assistant Postmaster General T. J. Brady has brought suit against Stilson Hutchins and Hallet Kilbourne, in which he accuses them of sharp practice in getting from him the "Evening Critic," of this city. Mr. Brady wants his property back.

One of the democratic hold-over officials in the General Land Office has got himself into trouble by hurrying through, out of its turn, a patent for lands valued at $1,000,000, against the insurance of which there were strong protests, which were not even given a hearing. What makes the trouble worse is the fact that the patent cannot now be cancelled without the assistance of the courts. Nothing can be done to the official, except to dismiss him, as it would be next to impossible to convict him of anything worse than carelessness, though there is little doubt that his action deserves to be called by a much harsher term.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7, 1890.

Justice Brewer, the new member of the United States Supreme Court, was to-day formally inducted to his seat upon the greatest tribunal in the world. The ceremony was very simple. The new justice, dressed in a new and decidedly handsome black silk robe, was presented to his future colleagues in the consulting room and followed behind them when they entered the court room. Justice Brewer remained standing after the other justices had taken their seats, then Chief Justice Fuller, standing administered the usual oath of office and Judge Brewer became a full-fledged Justice of the Supreme Court, and took his seat, the last to the left of the Chief Justice.

Congress, much abused but still necessary, is again with us, and Washington rejoices and hopes its guests may make a long visit. For if Congress does not entirely make the Washington mare go, it certainly acts as a spur to that quadruped and accelerates her pace. The attendance to-day was small in both Houses owing largely no doubt to sickness caused by the unusual weather we have been having this winter, but not to "la grippe" as the sensation mongers will have it. Among the vacant chairs on the Republican side of the House is that of Judge Kelley, the "father of the House," and from present appearances the chair will never again be occupied by the venerable commoner who has made his last tariff speech. He is critically ill in this city from a complication of disorders, including a rapidly growing cancer, and there is little or no hope of his recovery.

It is stated here that the President is engaged in preparing a message to Congress recommending that a bill be passed embodying Secretary Windom's plan of solving the silver problem. No information could be obtained on the subject at the White House.

There is a probability that the race question in the South will shortly become one of international importance. An English subject, a minister of the gospel, has presented a petition to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister, asking redress for injuries received by himself and wife at the hands of a mob in North Carolina. He claims to be a missionary, and that he and his wife have been preaching to the negroes and teaching a negro school, and that for this offense a mob of white men broke into his house, after firing a volley through the door, wounding him and beating his wife. The preacher and his wife are now in Washington, and the British minister is engaged in investigating their statements. If found true redress will be demanded of this Government.

The sheep raisers of the country are standing up manfully for their rights before the House committee on Ways and Means—they think the tariff on wool should be raised a little.

There is considerable dissatisfaction among Congressmen because of the exclusiveness affected by certain department officials, and unless something is done to allay it an early explosion may be expected, and it will not be the congressmen that will get hurt. Because a man happens to get into the cabinet or at the head of an important bureau is no reason why he should act as though he was sole proprietor of the entire country.

Everybody is watching to see which way the House will start this week, everything depends on what business is first taken up. If one of the many non-political questions, things may jog on quietly for quite a while, but if a political question comes up it will be a fight from the start. Probably the republican leaders will not provoke a rumour for some time yet, certainly not until they get the majority under better control than was apparent before the holidays, but on the other hand, the democrats will probably do all in their power to make a row, for they are much better prepared for it now than they will be later. So matters may fairly be said to be in a ticklish condition.

Robert G. Blaine a brother of Secretary Blaine, has been appointed deputy First Auditor of the Treasury. He was an applicant for the position of Register of Wills of this District.

From official information received from United States consuls the State department officials are under the impression that the seizing of certain American merchant vessels by the Columbian government was perfectly justifiable, as the commanders of the vessels willfully disobeyed the marine law of that country. The New York papers tried to make a big sensation out of this little matter, probably because the vessels are owned and sailed by merchants of that city.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Increased activity is noticeable in the canvas for Governor. The Philadelphia Times of Saturday in its gallery of candidates, gave a sketch of General Osborne, who has been three times elected to Congress. The general is distinguished for having received the highest vote ever cast for a candidate in Pennsylvania, his vote having been higher than Blaine's in one campaign, and higher than Beaver's in another campaign. His modesty is said to be his most prominent characteristic. A candidate might certainly have a worse quality than modesty.

General Hastings is still gaining friends. The latest acquisition to his strength is Col. W. P. Bowman, of Philadelphia, who is a candidate for the Republican State Convention in the interest of the Centre county gentleman. Col. Bowman in an interview published yesterday, enumerates some of the strong points of General Hastings, saying of him: "He is a strong man with the people. His record of uncompromising loyalty as a Republican, his devotion to the public good and unselfish labor in the interests of humanity at Johnstown during the recent terrible disaster at that unfortunate place, his distinguished and conspicuous service to the party and his country in the late national canvas and the marked ability displayed on the floor of the National Convention at Chicago, all commend him as a leader possessed of the highest qualifications for the position of Governor of the Commonwealth. He is a man of great and sterling character, with a judgment equal to any task or emergency. His executive ability in connection with his work as Adjutant General of the National Guard of Pennsylvania commends him to every soldier and patriot. He has distinguished himself as one of the best Adjutants Generals this Commonwealth has ever had. These qualities have endeared him to the hearts of our people and have impressed upon their minds his strength. They regard him as a typical man; one who has sprung from the people, and to whom they can look with perfect safety in any emergency." He urges the Republicans throughout the State who favor the election of General Hastings to organize, declaring that, in such an event, their wishes will be realized.

It is announced that Major Montooth will soon set out on a tour of the State to talk with Republicans over the governorship. It will be remembered that he owed his splendid run as a candidate for the nomination as Lieutenant Governor to this plan, which would have carried him in had he commenced it sooner. It is estimated that the Democrats are looking toward ex-Governor Patterson as a candidate.—Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

A DUEL BETWEEN INTELLECTUAL GIANTS.

THE January number of the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW will be rendered memorably by one of the most brilliant features which have ever appeared in American periodicals. This is a discussion between the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone and Hon. J. G. Blaine on the Tariff, Mr. Gladstone advocating Free Trade and Mr. Blaine Protection. Whatever can be said on one side and the other of this subject will be said in these articles in the most telling and impressive way by these two great masters of controversy. Mr. Gladstone's article will occupy between twenty and thirty pages of the Review, and Mr. Blaine's reply will be about the same length, if not longer. It will be a battle of intellectual giants.

The articles will be published simultaneously, by Mr. Gladstone's consent, and, as they take up so much space, this issue of the Review will be enlarged to admit of the usual number and variety of papers on important and timely topics.

A CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.

The price of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN is $1.50. We want 500 new subscribers before the 1st of January, 1890. How are you going to get them? Simply by giving more than has ever been given before in this county. Everybody wants to read a county paper, and all try to get the best. The REPUBLICAN is now as good a paper, and will, as long as THE BEST in the county. We now make the following offer:

To all persons subscribing between this and the first day of January, 1890, and sending us $1.50 in cash, we will send them this paper from now until January 1, 1891; and, in addition, will send them the Philadelphia WEEKLY PRESS FREE. Do not miss this chance. Subscribe now.

Sketch of Rev. Dr. McGlynn.

Dorset Edward McGlynn was born in New York City September 27, 1837. He was educated in the public schools of New York, and in 1851-60 studied theology at the College of the Propaganda in Rome, where he received his doctorate.

In 1860 he was ordained to the priesthood, and on his return to the United States was made an assistant pastor, and was appointed by President Lincoln to be chaplain at the Central Park Military Hospital.

On the death of Father Cummings in 1866 he was appointed to succeed him as pastor of St. Stephen's church in New York City, and there by his eloquence, heartiness, and quick sympathy with his people, won their warmest affection. Dr. McGlynn's unwillingness to establish a parochial school in connection with his church, and his support of the public schools brought him into disfavor with the authorities of the Church.

While, perhaps, the best known and most popular clergyman of the Diocese of New York, it was not until the exciting municipal campaign of two years ago in the metropolis, that the attitude of Dr. McGlynn attracted attention throughout the country. It will be remembered that to him, more than any other man, was due the extraordinary support given to Mr. George in the mayoralty contest in New York City. Mr. George stood forward as the champion of land reform, for supporting which cause, as represented by the Irish Land League, Dr. McGlynn had several years before incurred the censure of his ecclesiastical superior. One-sided representations had as early as 1884 been made to the congregation of the Propaganda in regard to Dr. McGlynn's support in public speeches of the Irish cause, as a result of which Cardinal McCloskey his suspension, but this prelate refrained from the course that was suggested, though not imposed upon him. In few words, the controversy of 1886 and 1887 may be thus summed up: Dr. McGlynn had promised to address a mass-meeting of citizens in Chickering Hall, New York, October 1, 1886, in support of the land reform then represented by Mr. George. This engagement he was in writing forbidden by Archbishop Corrigan to keep. Dr. McGlynn kept the engagement notwithstanding. He was for this suspended for two weeks from his ministry. In December following, in an interview with a reporter of the New York Tribune, Dr. McGlynn declared it to be his opinion that the administration of so-called charities was not and never could be any remedy for the evils of poverty, whereupon he was again suspended by Archbishop Corrigan, and shortly afterwards ordered by Cardinal Simeoni to retract in writing the doctrines he had taught and to repair to Rome. This order Dr. McGlynn disobeyed. In the spring of 1887 Dr. McGlynn was ordered under pain of excommunication to present himself in Rome within forty days from the receipt of the summons. This order Dr. McGlynn also disobeyed, denying the claim of any authority whatever to a right to summon him to a foreign country to answer for his political acts as an American citizen. His conscientious convictions he refused to retract in writing or otherwise, or to answer any summons based upon such a demand, while protesting then and ever since his devotion to the Church, to the service of which he has devoted his active life.

The bull fight at Mexico on Tuesday ended as all such fights should—with injuries to a large part of those who encouraged it with presence. It is a pity that the superstitious Mexicans would put their superstition to good use in this case by believing that the accident was sent by providence in punishment for attending such places and as a warning to shun them in the future.

PITTSBURG, may she never grow less, has inaugurated two great reforms. She is sending her corrupt aldermen to jail, and is trying to enforce the law compelling tramps to work on her streets. We congratulate Pittsburg.

GENERAL NOTES.

A Chester, Vt., woman dislocated her shoulder in making her bed.

All the Jamaica railways have been taken by an American syndicate.

It requires 22 volumes to register the different cattle brands of Arizona.

Here is journalistic enterprise. A young man has started a newspaper on the Sioux reservation. There are no white people there yet, but they will have a newspaper when they do arrive.

The two tallest convicts in the Salem penitentiary were sent from Jackson county, Ore. Caldwell, a life-terminer, stands 6 feet 5 1/2 inches; and Ruten, who went in for one year last week, is 6 feet 4 1/2 inches.

A number of London medical men have united to form a hypnotic society, the purpose of which will be to prevent by law public exhibitions of mesmerism and hypnotism. Another object will be to study privately and in a scientific manner the phenomena of those morbid states.

A wild old fox gave about 200 hantamen one of the best chases ever enjoyed in Delaware county, Pa., Wednesday, and when satisfied with his runly old Reynard crept into a hole and laughed at his pursuers. It was the occasion of the annual meeting of the Tipperary Club.

Allentown has a girl to be proud of. A few nights ago she ate 14 fried oysters, two pieces of bread, three pickles, two pieces of red beets, two oranges, two apples, three bananas, two pieces of chocolate cake, a piece of fruit cake, a lot of grapes, a piece of coconut cake and some candy.

Our Story Teller.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE.

It was only one of an ordinary row of brick houses with some pretensions to gentility, it is true, but common nevertheless. It boasted of a high stoop, a balcony ornamented with gingerbread work, but rather shabby, a small grass plot; and last, but not least, a quite imposing mansard roof.

No. 777 had been untenanted for ten months, to the wonder of many passers-by, though the neighborhood had heard the story, and the story had grown and down until it had got to be 'town talk.' The house was haunted. There were mysterious noises, banging of doors; opening of windows; weird lights looking about at all times of night, etc., etc.

The owner had bought it one year before, of the occupant, an old Scotch lady, who lived there with her daughter's family.

Two months after the purchase the old lady suddenly disappeared. For a long time the mourning relatives thought (as she was eccentric) that she had returned to Scotland! No news reaching them of her arrival there they came to the conclusion that she must have committed suicide. But after the mysterious noises, the neighbors, if not the immediate friends, gave it as their opinion that she had been murdered in her bed, and the remains summarily disposed of.

After the sale of the house, and just before the disappearance of the old lady, the daughter with her family moved about a mile away, but her mother was discontented, and wandered back and forth for a week, between the two houses, until the night of her disappearance.

No. 777 was still waiting for a tenant when a tall man, in a white hat, and with long locks hanging on his shoulders, mounted the steps with the agent. "Splendid house sir; all the modern improvements," said the agent.

"I see! I see! Some stories about the house aren't true? Ghosts, noises, lights etc?" said White Hat.

"Cats and rats, nothing else, sir, depend on it."

"Do you mean what you say, that the house is not haunted?"

"Of course I do sir; its all nonsense!"

"Then we'll be going, for, under these circumstances, I don't want it."

"Are you looking for a haunted house sir?"

"Yes I want to hire one if possible, for myself and family. We want to investigate; we are spiritualists."

"Well, the generality of people are so frightened that we have to say 'cats and rats,' but sir between you and the town-pump, and here the agent lowered his voice 'there's terrible goings on here—terrible sir!"

The White Hat looked interested. "I'll bring my wife over and if what you say is true, you may consider the house as good as engaged."

In the course of the week the Leightons moved in. There were father, mother, son, and daughter. Every night the trio (for Jennie begged to be counted out) sat up until midnight or later, waiting for demonstrations, but heard nothing satisfactory for some time.

One night, after they had given up all hopes of a ghost, and gone to bed and to sleep, determined to make up for lost time, Mr. Leighton was suddenly awakened by the opening of his chamber door.

He looked; and there on the threshold stood the apparition—an old woman, with burning black eyes, and a face as white as the robe she wore!

Though his long locks stood out from his head like an opened umbrella, he determined to speak, and speak he did. "In the name of the Lord, what would you have?"

The ghost made no answer, but glided noiselessly toward the door of his daughter's room adjoining his own, which she opened, entering and closing it after her. All this time Mrs. Leighton stood soundly.

Hearing voices low and whispering, Mr. Leighton, frightened, though he was, in spite of his boasted courage, sprang out of bed into his daughter's room, only to see her disappear out of the hall door, led by the ghost.

"Walking in her sleep!" cried the alarmed father, springing toward the bell-rope.

In less time than it takes to write his name was alarmed, and young Leighton, Betty, the cook, Pat, the hired man, following Mr. and Mrs. Leighton searched the entire house over to find Miss Jane and her ghostly companion but without avail.

The next morning there were pale faces and aching hearts gathered at the breakfast table at No. 777.

"What shall we do next, mother?" said Mr. Leighton, whipping the perspiration from his forehead.

"Send for a police," said the heart-

"If we can't find her, no policeman can," cried John.

"Oh why did we ever move into this haunted house?" said the father.

In the midst of this sorrowing dialogue the door opened and in walked Janie, smiling, with her prettiest morning dress on, and her cheeks as blooming as a rose.

Her mother's arms were around her in a moment, and questions poured in upon her from all sides.

"Where have you been all night Janie?"

"Laying the ghost!"

"How did you do it, Janie?"

"By soothing the pain and administering to the wants of a poor old woman, who has lived in the attic on the south side for nearly a year."

"It's the same old woman that people thought was murdered?"

"The same. I came across her one day when I was exploring the nooks and crannies in the upper story. You know there was one door that we found locked, and there was no key to fit it. Father said it was nothing but a tuckaway place, and there was no hurry about getting a key for it. Well, about a week ago I found this door unlocked, and looking in, what should I see but a furnished room! On the bed lay an old woman groaning as if in pain. "Come in, lassie," said she, when she saw me.

"I am very sick; nigh unto death. You won't be troubled with me long. Let me die here. Don't turn me out I love the old house. They made me sell it. But I couldn't live anywhere else. I've crept out in the morning and night, disguised as an old beggar, with my basket on my arm. I needed but little. They didn't treat the old woman any too well, lassie, but you will be my friend and keep my secret a little while longer, won't you?"

"Then that is the secret of the haunted house, Janie?" said Mr. Leighton.

"It is. Last night she thought she was going to die before morning, and she crept down in search of me. She found your door unlocked, it must have been forgotten, and coming to my room she woke me and carried me up to her poor, desolate room."

Mr. Leighton sent for the lady's friends and the family physician, but before the latter arrived the sufferer had breathed her last.

She did not forget Janie, but gave her her family Bible, and between the leaves were folded three hundred dollars as a wedding portion for the lassie at 777—street."

NEVER FORGET.

That the fairest flowers fade the soonest.

That knowledge leaves no room for changes.

That pride is never so offensive as when in chains.

That when men are lonely they stoop to any companionship.

That the darkest clouds often contain the most fruitful showers.

That the pure worship of a pure heart is an inspiration and a song.

That there may be loyalty without love, but never love without loyalty.

That a golden key will often find the way to unlock many a secret drawer.

That death is a sleepless messenger, and life a wakeful handmaid of creation.

That the finest feeling, velvety paws of a kitten often cover the sharpest claws.

That "doing as well as you know how" is all right if you always know how to do well.

That it is often more difficult to obliterate traces of spilled ink than drops of spilled blood.

That those who are honest and earnest in their honesty have no need to proclaim the fact.

That it may be well to test the condition of a cat's claws before stroking its fur the wrong way.

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT THE INTEREST AND dividend payments to be made by railway and other corporations next month will reach a total of more than $340,000,000. This sum of money will be divided among many thousands of investors. The size of it is not great enough to average a very large percentage on investments—probably not more than 4 per cent. on the average. Still, it is enough to show that nearly all our great corporations are solvent, and that the general financial condition of the country is not so bad as some prophets of evil have told us.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO A YOUNG LADY.

While Miss Flora DeHans, of Beech Creek, was standing up in a buggy putting on her coat with her back to the horse, the animal suddenly gave a start, throwing the young lady on her stomach over the back of the seat, from whence she fell to the ground. She was taken into the nearest house and was found to be internally injured. She is not able to be moved, although the attempt was to be made to take her to her home today.

TWO YEARS AGO.

I was a sight to behold and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health and can eat anything.

What did it? Sufferer Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. Bowman, Manchester, N.H.

CHARACTER IN THE EAR.

Pall Mall Gazette.

Little notice is commonly taken of the outward form of our organ of hearing, and even artists do not give it much consideration as a rule, yet the formation and shape of the ear, says a writer will amply repay those who give it close attention. "Our modern painters seldom go into minute detail over it. The sculptors are more particular, especially among the antique; one seldom sees a good piece of statuary without noticing that a great care has been taken to correctly model the ear, and it was regarded as worthy of study.

"Ears vary greatly in form and size, and the peculiarities of the shape they assume sometimes give an index to the character of the individual. Women have much better shaped ears than men. They are usually much smaller and lie close to the head. Some people possess a singular muscular power over the ear, and can move the upper part at will, but it is rarely met with. The ear is worth studying from an anatomical point of view. Beginning with the outer fold or ridge, called the helix, which forms the outline, the ear is composed of thin cartilage and integument. The next prominent ridge is the antihelix, which some people have very largely developed, but in a well-formed ear projects very little beyond the helix. The little knob that projects from the foot of the antihelix is called the antitragus, and the corresponding knob on the other side the tragus. The deep well in the center of the ear is the concha, and last of all, the fleshy part below is called the lobe or lobule. The concha, so termed from its shell-like form, plays the most important part in reflecting the vibrations into the ear; in fact, all these projections and depressions are of importance to our hearing, and play their own parts in conveying the undulations of sound to the drum of the ear.

"Owing to the immense variety of size and form in ears, it is somewhat difficult to definitely classify them, but they may be roughly divided into two divisions, which are easily identified—division I, with curved hanging lobe; II, with straight lobe.

"Besides the peculiarities of shape the ear may be large or small, protruding or flat, and straight or loping. Some ears have pointed tops, while others have straight. Small and thin ears usually denote delicacy and refinement, and abnormally large thick ears are associated with a sensual and coarse nature.

"Ears of the first division are by far the most common, while not more than one person in fifty possesses the straight lobed ear of the second division. The peculiar-shaped ear is often hereditary, and can be traced back in some families for generations. People with musical tastes generally have large and prominent ears, while the thin, angular ear is said to denote bad temper and cruelty. The ears of great philosophers and statesmen have been noticed to be large and sloping. Mr. Gladstone's ear has a curved, hanging lobe, lies close to the head, and has a sloping position.

"The Marquis of Salisbury's ear is massive and well-proportioned, and has also a sloping position. The ear of the great Napoleon was rather small, well formed, with curved lobe. As age increases the ear becomes more angular and marked. From our youth upward the ear does not receive much consideration. It is pinched to signify pleasure, it is sometimes boxed to signify anger, and even pierced or bored for ornamentation. This very ancient barbarous custom of piercing the ears which now, we are glad to observe, is considered unfashionable, has spoiled and disfigured the shape of thousands of ears through the perforation of the lobe for the purpose of wearing earrings. It may well be hoped that this fashion will never be revived."

A LADY'S PERFECT COMPANION.

PAINLESS CHILD-BIRTH, a new book by Dr. John H. Dye one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in Child-birth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness, swelled limbs, and all other evils attending pregnancy. It is reliable and highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. LINCOLN SKINNED HIM.

How the Lamented President Won a Widow's Suit.

Globe Democrat.

"If I can free this case from technicalities and get it properly swung to the jury, I'll win it," Abraham Lincoln used to say, when confident of the justice of the cause he represented. He was weak in defending a wrong case, for he was mentally and morally too honest to explain away the bad points of a cause by ingenious sophistry.

Instead of attempting to bolster up such a cause, he abandoned it. Once he abandoned a case in open court, being convinced that it was unjust. A less fastidious lawyer took Mr. Lincoln's place and won the case.

Mr. Herndon, in his 'Life of Lincoln,' tells a story which exhibits his ability in getting a case he believed in 'properly swung to the jury.'

A pension agent, named Wright, secured for the widow of a Revolutionary soldier a pension of $400, of which sum he retained one-half as his fee. The pensioner, a crippled old woman, hobbled into Lincoln's office and told her story. It concerned Lincoln up; he brought suit against the agent, and on the day of the trial he said:

"I am going to skin Wright, and get that money back."

He did so the old woman told her story to the jury. Lincoln in his plea, drew a picture of the hardships of Valley Forge, describing the soldiers as creeping barefooted over the ice, and marking their tracks by their bleeding feet. Then he contrasted the hardships of the soldiers, endured for their country, with the hardened action of the agent in fleecing the old woman of one-half of her pension.

He was merciless; the members of the jury were in tears, and the agent writhed in his seat under the castigation of Lincoln's denunciation. The jury returned a verdict in her favor for the full amount, and Lincoln made no charge for his services.

His note for the argument was unique: "No contract—No professional services—Unreasonable charge—Money retained by Deft not given by Plaintiff—Revolutionary War—Describe Valley Forge Privation—Ice—Soldier's bleeding feet—Plaintiff's husband—Soldier leaving for army—Skin Deft's—Ounce."

THE COMING YEAR PROMISES TO BE ONE of prosperity for every branch of industry and every kind of manufacture in this country. Will the free traders rejoice as patriots over this, or will they moan and groan, and grumble and growl, minify the good and magnify the bad in all that occurs, keeping up meanwhile a senseless and increasing twaddle about the "robber tariff?" Unfortunately there is every reason to think that the latter is just what they will do.

As early as seven o'clock on Friday night the Court House doors were thrown open and persons began to assemble eager to hear and see the "Boston Stars," the third in the Star Course of entertainments. When eight o'clock arrived the Court House was filled—fully seven hundred people were present—all eager to have the entertainment begin. When the clock struck eight the door of the ante room opened and there appeared before the impatient audience—Mr. Morrison and Mr. Galbraith. On being cheered the latter named gentleman responded with a most deferential bow.

Soon after Mr. King made his appearance and the entertainment was begun. Mr. King is a thorough and brilliant performer and after the rendition of his opening piece he was encored and responded. Mr. Thomas was the next to make his appearance and his very actions were enough to draw forth spontaneous applause. Mr. Thomas is a born humorist; it is in him and he has the wonderful faculty of knowing just how to let it out right. He was encored back after his first selection and responded with "The Cork Leg" song.

The next to make his appearance was Mr. Emerson, the wonderful cornetist. In his rendition of his "Grand Fantasia" he held the entire audience almost spell-bound and at its conclusion a storm of the wildest and most enthusiastic applause was hurled after him. He responded with a second selection as skillfully rendered as the first.

The next to come on the platform was the prima donna, Medora Henson-Emerson. Her first selection was in French and, although few knew a word she said, yet there was not one person in the house but that listened with rapturous delight to the wonderfully rich and full tones of the brilliant singer. In response to an encore she sang "My Little Ones at Home." In this piece her enunciation was very plain and distinct. Mr. King then rendered another piano selection and just as he had got rightly commenced why—down when McGinty in the guise of a boy who had first fallen asleep and then fallen out of the window. The diversion thus occasioned was but momentary, however. Mr. King was again encored. The next was a song by Medora Henson-Emerson with Cornet Obligato by Walter Emerson. This was certainly the most wonderful performance of the evening. The blending of the singers voice to the tune, of the cornet was perfect and at times it was impossible to make any distinction between the two. The two brilliant performers have often excelled others but they now almost excelled themselves in the way they went through that song and accompaniment and especially in the ending note which was very high and long to hold. Here the blending of the voice and instrument was simply perfect. They were encored twice.

John Thomas then followed in another clever Humorous recital which completely took down the house. He was encored four times and it at one time looked as if he would have to occupy the platform all night. Again Mr. Emerson rendered more of his brilliant cornet music and after he had responded to an encore, Miss Emerson appeared and sang a simple little English ballad in such a sweet and perfect way that she was enthusiastically applauded and encored.

The closing part of the entertainment was two comic songs by Mr. Thomas. Of course these last were equal to any of his former renditions and the audience had a chance to disperse midst resounding peals of laughter and applause. All in all it has been one of the most entertaining entertainments that ever appeared in Bellefonte, and the ladies of the W. C. T. U. deserve great credit for bringing such amusement to Bellefonte.

During the evening it was announced that the lecture of Russell H. Conwell, which was to have taken place in the beginning of February, would now occur on the 29th of January.

Hard Winters.

Few people realize what constitutes a hard winter on vegetation. Many times trees will go through a winter in which the temperature falls to twenty or thirty degrees below zero, when during another winter seeming mild in comparison a death blow will be received.

Two of the most important items are the condition of the tree and the amount of moisture in the growth.

Poor growing weather, over-bearing and poor soil are some of the conditions which directly result in low vitality in trees, and especially in fruit trees. Let these conditions be followed by a dry winter, with severe freezing, and the spring will invariably bring a vast amount of inquiries as to the causes of death of orchard and other trees, when the reason seems to be hidden. The only safeguards are to keep all the trees and plants in healthy condition, and the application of mulching in the fall. Fruit trees that overbear are in danger from such winters, and this will be sufficient reason for thinning fruit, if there was no other. A heavy mulching will not only retain the moisture in the soil, but will protect the roots from sudden and numerous changes in temperature. They are always a severe ordeal for a tree, and should always be guarded against.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

A YOUNG LADY WELL KNOWN IN BELLEFONTE MARRIED ON NEW YEAR'S EVENING IN NEWTOWN.

On New Year's evening the pleasant home of Mr. J. M. Bunnell, in Lewistown, was thronged with one hundred and fifty invited guests to witness an event that was second to none in importance to at least two persons of that brilliant assemblage. It was the occasion of the marriage of Miss Sallie M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bunnell, to Mr. T. E. Mayes, son of Mr. A. I. Mayes, of Lewistown.

The marriage ceremony which occurred at a seasonable hour in the evening, was performed by the famous Rev. J. W. White, an independent Presbyterian and was solemn and impressive. At the conclusion thereof the happy young couple were the recipient of showers of hearty congratulations and well wishes, after which refreshments were served. It would be impossible for to attempt to describe the elegant collation spread before the guests. It was all that cultivated taste and a fastidious appetite could desire. Cold turkey, chicken salad, oysters, cake, pie, fruit, nuts, ices, cream, etc., tempted the feasters. After refreshments the happy couple departed amid showers of rice on the evening train for a tour to Philadelphia and other eastern cities.

The bride's dress was a marvel of the dressmaker's art. It was of cream colored silk, handsomely made and trimmed. She wore a long veil and carried a huge bouquet of white roses. She looked extremely lovely and bewitching. The groom was dressed in the customary black and looked very handsome and courtly.

The bridesmaid, Miss Cassler, of Milroy, wore a dress of pink and blue satin with pearl trimming. Mr. Bodine, of Philadelphia, acted as best man.

The presents were numerous and valuable. A check for $100 from the bride's father, another for $50 from her uncle, a diamond ring, silverware, and lots of very nice presents.

Miss Bunnell, the bride, is the accomplished daughter of Mr. Bunnell, of the firm of Bunnell & Aikens, in this place. She is well known by many people in Bellefonte as the family resided here a few years ago. Among the large number of guests present were Mr. J. A. Aikens, and two daughters, Mr. W. T. Myer and Mr. Frank Naginey, all of Bellefonte.

After the wedding party departed on their journey eastward the services of the Lewistown orchestra were called into requisition and the happy young people spent the time until four o'clock in the morning dancing. Altogether it was a very pleasant affair.

A Pointer for the New Year.

The Philadelphia Press makes the following excellent point which will be found a good pointer for business men in the New Year: "One has but to read the advertising columns of the news papers during the holiday season to discover that there are dozens of firms in business who think it worth while to make their existence known to the public for only a week or two during the whole year. At this time the newspapers contain the announcements of houses which the great, intelligent advertising public doesn't hear of through those mediums from one month's end to another. It is very strange. The policy of it is inexplicable. If advertising is a good thing for a mercantile establishment for two weeks in a year, it ought to be good fifty-two. It is one thing for a merchant to make himself known to the people and another to keep himself known. The successful merchant is he who introduces himself to the public, and then, by daily advertising, prevents people from forgetting him."

TO ADVERTISERS!

How to Get the Most Service for the Money!

The Advertiser who would be willing to pay twenty-five cents for every family who could be "educated" up to the value of his goods would thus devote $3,000,000 to educate the 12,000,000 families which make up the 60,000,000 of the United States. This sum would do the business thoroughly in a year, for it is sufficient to pay for the insertion of a full column in every issue of every publication, and for resetting the matter, making it new in every issue of each separate publication. We will receive and execute the contract.

$5,000 One of the most successful Advertisers we ever had always ordered his advertisements in this way, "Get the best service you can for me for $5,000," leaving every detail to us. We were thus enabled to say to a Publisher, if you put this in at a large reduction from your rate it will be no criterion for further transactions. It was a surprise to find ourselves so often able to contract for the insertion of that particular advertisement at half rates, in papers which would not permit us to OFFER their columns at a penny's deviation from a printed schedule. The advertising rates of one New York paper are double those of another which has twice the circulation of the first. Similar discrepancies are not uncommon. The advertisement entrusted to us to be placed in accordance with our judgment often does double service for half the money. A dollar for twenty-five cents.

$1,000 If we are given authority to insert advertisements to a limited amount, in such mediums as offer inducements which seem to us specially favorable, we shall not abuse the confidence reposed in us, and shall render statements of whatever is done (if anything) from day to day. When TRUSTED with the placing of an advertisement, we are put upon honor, and are bound in honor to give the best service possible for the money to be used. $500 Leading Newspapers, especially the leading Agricultural Newspapers, frequently issue large special editions (of twenty, fifty, a hundred, or even five hundred thousand copies), and excellent advertisement orders from us on terms which would often be accepted by our patrons if there was time to invite attention to the matter; but the question must generally be decided before there would be time to write and receive a reply, and often the case cannot be fully stated within the limits of a letter.

$250 Prepare a small advertisement and send with check for $250, or any other sum. The practice of asking the Agent to name his papers in advance compels him to name such as are well known, otherwise there is reason to suspect that his judgment is biased—and the best papers do not like to have their rates quoted below their schedule.

$100 The advertiser who sends his advertisements asking for the best service possible for one hundred dollars, will often get from five to fifty per cent more service for his money, than he would had he required us to tell him in advance exactly what service we would promise; for when an estimate has been given its plan and specifications must, in a general way at least, control the advertising to be done. It ties the Agent's hands and prevents his giving his patrons TO-DAY a better service than he could have promised yesterday, because yesterday the opportunity had not presented itself: to-morrow it may have passed! Some publications are used more economically on contracts for a single issue; in others insertion for a month may be had as cheaply as for a single week but in furnishing an estimate in advance, if the Agent attempts to go into details, his correspondence becomes voluminous and the advertiser confused.

$50. If you are in the habit of occasionally inserting a small advertisement in a few papers, investing a few dollars and carefully noting the result; we desire you to make trial of our Advertising Bureau, sending us the advertisement and the money, leaving the selection of the papers to us, and judging of the service rendered by results rather than by names, circulation claims or prices. To make up careful estimates calls for much work. It doesn't pay to make them indiscriminately for every applicant. If such estimates as are asked for were always given the Advertiser who wished to expend $50 would frequently find himself in possession of a scheme which it would cost $500 or possibly $5,000 to carry out.

$10. We devote all necessary care to placing small orders for Advertising—even the smallest! Time is saved by sending check with the order. Often the Advertiser is not possessed of sufficient information on the subject to enable him to judge of the merits of an estimate for advertising, and he decides by the footings of the figures whether he will or will not do the work. Yet the estimate binds the Agent and makes it improper for him to make any variation in its specifications, however much his judgment may point to material changes which ought to be made. This is specially liable to be the case when the order comes a considerable time after the estimate was made.

THE BONBRIGHT ENTERTAINMENT.

A Large and Select Audience Very Interestingly Entertained at Studio in Crider's Exchange.

A large and very select audience gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bonbright, No. 34 Crider's Exchange, on Thursday night to hear the opening entertainment, composed of elocution and music, to be given by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bonbright, and it is certainly undeniable that the entertainment was first-class in every respect. Mr. and Mrs. Bonbright are both artists in their profession, and their efforts on Thursday night proved the fact very conclusively.

The following programme was rendered during the evening, after Prof. Bonbright made a preliminary address in which he told the purpose of the entertainment last night which was, in brief, to give the people of Bellefonte a chance to become better acquainted with their course and methods of work, and also to give those who had never heard them a chance of judging them by their work.

The first thing on the programme, which was an informal one, was music—a Garotte, by Bach arranged by Joseffy for the left hand only, Mrs. Bonbright. Recital—Webster's Opinion of Eloquentia, Prof. Bonbright.

Recitation—Jamie Butler and the owl—comic, Prof. Bonbright. Music—Whither, a Nocturne, Mrs. Bonbright.

Recital—Maddalena, or the Spanish Duel, Prof. Bonbright.

Recital—In-in-in-vita—ta—tation to—to—to the z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z, Prof. Bonbright.

Music—Waltz, Mrs. Bonbright—(her own composition).

At this stage of the programme there was an intermission during which the Professor took occasion to explain the method of his work and gave an exposition of elocution.

The programme was continued by Music—C sharp in minor, by Chopin Mrs. Bonbright.

Recital—How the Old Horse Won the Bet, Prof. Bonbright.

Shakespearean recital—Cassius Investigating Brutus, Prof. Bonbright.

Music—Mendelssohn's Grand Finale from his first Concerto, Mrs. Bonbright.

It is impossible for us to do full credit to the remarkably well rendered programme, and space will not permit us to express an opinion of each rendition separately, so we will just say that the entire satisfaction that was expressed by all present was sufficient evidence of the ability of the performers. We trust that Prof. Bonbright will succeed in raising a very large class as it is an undoubted good work and deserving of large patronage.

CONSUMPTION CURED

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. FOR 1890.

DAILY. SUNDAY. WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of The Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES

Founded December 1st, 1887.

LARGEST DAILY CIRCULATION OF ANY REPUBLICAN PAPER IN AMERICA.

This Press is the organ of no faction; pulls no wire; has no animosities to avenge.

The Press is now a National Newspaper, rapidly growing in favor with Republicans of every State in the Union.

Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the Press. It is a expensive paper, published at the lowest price American currency permits.

The Press has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It speaks with points. The Press Sunday Edition is a splendid sixteen page paper, covering every current topic of interest.

The Press Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions with special features suited to a Weekly publication. For those who cannot afford the Daily or are prevented by distance from early receiving it, the Weekly is a splendid substitute.

As an advertising medium the Press has no superior in New York. It reaches an excellent class of readers. Rates very reasonable. Full information upon application.

LA GRIPPE IN BELLEFONTE.

Quite a Number of Cases of the Dreaded Russian Disease in this Locality.

When accounts of La Grippe were first read in the papers a great many people were prone to make light of it as an imaginative affection. In other words, pardon the expression, it was "sneezed at." It is now again "sneezed at." But this time in a way so realistic as to admit of no laughing. Although in the United States, and especially in the interior towns, very few cases have proven fatal yet it is a very unpleasant thing and not at all to be desired.

In Bellefonte there are at the present time upwards of one hundred cases in mild and aggravated forms. None so far have proved fatal. Among those who are now recovering are Mrs. D. H. Hastings, Sheriff Robert Cooke, the post office officials, Mr. E. G. Jones and scores of others. Mrs. Hastings had a severe attack as also had Sheriff Cooke.

Wonder if it isn't this peculiar weather that is the cause of La Grippe. It seems to be in common with each other. However that it is seems to have taken a firm grip on the public in general as reports from all over the world show, only in foreign lands it is proving far more fatal than in this country, hundreds falling victims daily to its ravages.

Leaving All to the Lord.

Our Snow Shoe correspondent sends us the following clipping and because of its remarkable nature we publish it in full. The Rev. M. Penny is a son-in-law of Rev. M. L. Jackson, pastor of the advent church of Snow Shoe, and who for several years was a resident of the Mountain town himself and assistant to Mr. Jackson on his charge. He might as well deny his child food when well as to deny her medicine when sick:

ATTLEBORO, Mass., Dec. 31.—The little daughter of Rev. Mr. Penny, whose faith in the Lord is so strong that he will allow no medicine to pass his child's lips, is steadily sinking. The mother has succumbed to the father's influence, and will take her cure from the Lord or not at all. There are likely to be some very startling developments in this case. Penny has taken his stand in defiance of protest and entreaty, and it is going to be hard work to do anything for the child's relief, unless he is removed in some way from the scene. People talk very strongly of the matter, and it would not be at all strange if a sensation of the most unpleasant sort grew out of their indignation.

The selectmen have turned the case over to the Overseers of the Poor, and the latter say they have no jurisdiction. The Pennys are not paupers: There appears to be a misunderstanding of the situation on the part of District Attorney Knowles, who ordered this course.

Railroad News.

From the DuBois Express.

Some three months ago The Express published at length certain movements on the part of a new company, the Pittsburgh, Beech Creek and New York, a charter having been granted to construct a line from Mill Hall, in Clinton county, to a point near Butler. This design is holding good. It has come to light very late that the Vanderbilt holdings are those held by Lorenzo Everett, of Watertown, and the proposed extension begins at Gazzam, the western terminus of the Beech Creek, and ends at Oil City, eighty miles distant. This proposed stretch connects at Oil City with a branch of the Lake Shore running to the main line at Ashtabula, Ohio. The New York Central deal proposes the extension of a branch of the New York, Ontario and Western road at Scranton, and once there the old Midland scheme Williamsport is easy of execution. The Vanderbilts control the Beech Creek and have been after a new outlet for their anthracite and bituminous coal tonnage. In these ways they not alone accomplish their object but greatly shorten distances over the New York Central.

We will just here add that the above in detail was published in this paper three months ago.

Entertainment in Milesburg.

The young folk's entertainment company, of Milesburg, gave an entertainment on Saturday evening in Boggs' Hall, the proceeds to be devoted to the repaying of the M. E. church. There was a good sized audience present and the programme, consisting of dialogues, tableaux, charades, vocal and instrumental music, etc., was especially well rendered. The Milesburg Cornet band was present and at every opportunity discoursed lively and entrancing music.

In the absence of stage manager, Mr. L. T. Eddy, Mr. W. H. Musser acted in that capacity. He announced the opening piece of the entertainment would be an instrumental voluntary by Mrs. Frances Eddy Zimmerman. This piece was so well executed that the audience expressed their approval in unmistakable terms of loud applause. The song "For Nobody knows what to-morrow will be" was then sung by Miss Bertha Schreier, accompanied by Messrs. Chas. Wright, Calvin Zimmerman and May Smith. This was followed by "The Song that reached my heart," by Miss Swires and Miss Smith, accompanied by the flute and organ, with Miss Ruth Swires, of Pittsburg, as organist.

A recitation by Eddy Zimmerman entitled, "Willie's Prayer," was rendered in a taking and creditable manner. This was followed by a song by Charlie Stonerode, Mary Smith and Calvin Zimmerman, accompanied by the flute and organ. A recitation "Ask my Ma," by Miss Florence Orris, was spoken in a clear, loud voice and proved very satisfactory to the audience. An instrumental duet was then rendered on the flute and organ, Mrs. Francis playing the organ and Charles Wright the former instrument.

At this time there was an interval of intermission during which time the band discoursed pleasing music.

A charade was the next on the programme and it was excellently rendered by the following cast of characters: Ida Orris, as "Bess"; Florence Orris, as "Ma"; Will Swires, as "Theodore"; and Charles Wright, as "McAdams," the latter wearing a moustache that looked too fresh to be dangerous.

After the charade a song was rendered by Messrs Charles Wright and Calvin Zimmerman and Miss Florence Orris, entitled "Rock of Ages." The audience assembled then dispersed while the band rendered some excellent music.

Mercurial Rheumatism.

Mr. J. C. Jones, city marshal of Fulton, Arkansas, writes: "About ten years ago I contracted a severe case of Blood poisoning. The leading physicians of the city were called in, and they prescribed medicine after medicine, which I took without affording me any relief. I also tried mercurial and potash remedies, with the same unsuccessful result, but which brought on an attack of mercurial rheumatism that made my life one of untold agony. After suffering for four years, I gave up all former remedies and commenced taking Swift's Specific (S S S). After taking several bottles, I was entirely cured and able to resume work. I consider Swift's Specific (S S S) the greatest medicine for blood poisoning today on the market."

A Prompt Cure.

Two bottles of Swift's Specific (S S S) cured me of a breaking out all over my body, caused by blood poisoning.

MAN KILLED IN TYRONE.

Yard Dispatcher Adam Wolfgang Suddenly Killed on Monday.

About three o'clock on Monday afternoon Adam Wolfgang, yard dispatcher on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad and located at Tyrone, was assisting the conductor and a brakeman of a local freight train to push a caboose in on a siding on which a shifting engine was standing. The engineer on the engine, not knowing what the men were doing put on steam intending to run out on the main track. Of course a collision between the engine and caboose followed in which Mr. Wolfgang was knocked twenty feet on one side and killed outright, and the conductor was badly injured. The brakeman escaped without any injury whatever, as he was at the side and jumped.

Mr. Wolfgang, the man that was killed, has been yard dispatcher at that place for many years, and was at all times a faithful and efficient employee. The case is a very sad one and awakens the sympathy of all his friends and acquaintances.

On the train that came into Tyrone from the east only a few minutes before the above accident occurred, were two men who had been seriously, if not fatally, injured at the Tyrone forges by a heavy boiler falling on them. We have not been able to obtain the names of these two men.

Col. Teller and the Bush House.

The Bush House at Bellefonte is still kept by Col. Teller, the genial and generous Southerner, who has made the house what it is—one of the best hotels in all Pennsylvania; an excellent table, fine beds, handsome rooms and genuine comfort everywhere. We can recommend the Bush to Lock Haven patronage conscientiously.

Col. Teller is in much better health than we expected to find him and looks fresh and well. He was at the Bermuda at the same time ex-Senator Peale, of this city was there, and the two gentlemen grew to be fast friends, the esteem on either side being mutual. The friendship there and then formed has continued ever since and is likely to last a lifetime.

Those who want to be treated courteously, who want nice meals in a scrupulously clean dining-room and, who desire to enjoy all the special delights of first-class hotel life, should call on Col. Teller at the Bush House.—Lock Haven Democrat.

A Hard Winter After All.

The Philadelphia Record says: "The weather this winter is much like that of weather of 1829, if the memory of old G. M. Ward of Salem, N. J., is not at fault. Mr. Ward remembers that the fall and early winter of 1829 were very similar to the present. He made grass butter that year until January 1830, and the weather was unusually mild, but winter set in on the 9th of that month, and a four-foot snow fell, which laid, with frequent additions, until the following April, and for four days there was no communication between Camden and Philadelphia."

Appropos of this there was a man in this office on Saturday who said that he remembered a winter not long ago just like this when he ploughed every month and there was no more snow than we are now having.

In Other Counties.

The body of a man, a flood victim, was found in the Conemaugh at Coopersdale on Saturday.

A little girl named Hamilton, aged about 8 years, was struck by mail train west near Oresson on Friday evening and instantly killed. She was walking on the track.

Decatur township has petitioned the court of Clearfield county to establish a poor house in said township. It has also made arrangement for a lease of a certain piece of ground owned by Robert Lloyd of Philipsburg, for a period of five years.

—In last week's Gazette mention was made of a young man (?) who was making it a practice of following young ladies home from church and other places. On last Wednesday night this self-same gentleman (?) attacked a highly respectable colored girl on the street and had her not gone just when he did he would have been filled so full of bullet holes that he would have been of no more use either in this world or the next. But it is a pleasure to say that the police has spotted the fellow and if he makes any more such inhuman demonstrations he will be "scopped quicker." So beware, young man!

THE FRESHET.

"A HOMELESS, drifting band are we,
Yet lucky in a high degree,
For when the house was swept away
Before the freshet yesterday,
To find the bottom went the cans;
Along with kettles, spoons, and pans;
But safe above the house and mill,
The 'IVORY SOAP' was floating still!"

For, strange to say, 'tis not confined
To cleaning things of every kind,
From coarsest cloth to finest lace,
From painted walls to pimpled face,
But proves indeed the greatest prize;
When rain descends and rivers rise;
So while we have a life to save,
We'll praise the Soap that rides the wave!"

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

—The last issue of the Conference News has the following to say about the Methodist church in Penna Valley: "Methodism is moving along steadily. At Spring Mills and Aaronsburg the church has been quickened. At the former place a young man was converted and united with the church. At the latter place our church loses a large Methodist family, Bro. S. H. Deihl having sold out his moving to Colorado. Millheim is in the midst of a refreshing season, several have been converted, and the pleadings of the penitent is still heard at the altar. It also adds that their Fourth Quarterly meeting would be on Saturday and Sunday January 4th and 5th. This was last Saturday and Sunday, and it is to be hoped they had a pleasant and profitable time. Rev. Dr. Hamlin, D. D., was with them."

WHAT IT IS. SIX STANDARD VIRTUES.

ITS EFFICACY.—1. Its effects are prompt. 2. Its relief is sure. 3. It cures permanent. 4. It cures no return of pain. 5. It cures in all cases used according to directions.

1st. It is in one word a cure; it is not merely a relief and in no sense a cure-all; it is the product of scientific research. 2nd. It strengthens while it soothes and subdues. 3rd. Its effects are curative and permanent in the whole group of muscular injuries and nervous agonies. 4th. It does not merely irritate the outer surface, nor does it merely soften or relax a contracted muscle. To its specific action a superior curative virtue is superadded. 5th. caught on at once and we and, as far as I can see, every other song and dance man have been singing it ever since. I suppose it took me about half an hour to write the song after I had got the chorus in my head.

Does Experience Count.

It does, in every line of business, and especially in compounding and preparing medicines. This is illustrated in the great superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla over other preparations, as shown by the remarkable cures it has accomplished.

The head of the firm of C. I. Hood & Co. is a thoroughly competent and experienced pharmacist, having devoted his whole life to the study and actual preparation of medicines. He is also a member of the Massachusetts and American Pharmaceutical Associations, and continues actively devoted to supervising the preparation of and managing the business connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hence the superiority and peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is built upon the most substantial foundation. In its preparation there is represented all the knowledge which modern research in medical science has developed, combined with long experience, brain-work, and experiment. It is only necessary to give this medicine a fair trial to realize its great curative value.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that had feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at W. C. Kepling-er & Co's Drug Store."

—The commission appointed by Governor Beaver to revise the road laws of the State will meet at Harrisburg on January 22. After organization shall have been made it is likely that the commission will adjourn to meet in Philadelphia to carry out its work.

A BOSTON INSTITUTION.

The Peabody Medical Institute and Its Quarter Century's Work.

One of the self-evident propositions regarding most, if not all, human institutions, is that their survival indicates their fitness to exist. In other words when an institution best serves some good purpose it is apt to live while such a purpose is to be, or should be served. To combat the ordinary ills to which the flesh is heir, we have good physicians by the thousand and hospitals by the hundred; but there are ailments of so subtle a nature, many of which infect society like a dry rot, that require special skill and care in their treatment, that the specialist alone—and he must be a man of rare qualifications—can best treat them. Of such ailments those which have their origin in disorders of the nervous system are usually the most difficult to deal with, or to treat successfully. Their origin may be as remote to the eye of the ordinary practitioner, while to the eye of the specialist it may be plainly indicated by the nature of the manifestations. At any rate, they are always more or less difficult of treatment, requiring peculiar methods and patient attention on the part of the medical man. To treat such nervous maladies was the object of the founder of the Peabody Medical Institute, when, some 25 years ago, he established it at No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, where it is located to this day, and where it will, no doubt, continue for many years to come, it being an established fact in the history of medical institutions that where they are eminently useful to humanity they become permanent. Its mission being largely philanthropic, it was named after that eminent American philanthropist, the late George Peabody, whose beneficence gladdens and will continue to gladden thousands of his fellow-beings on both sides of the Atlantic for ages to come. It has had a wonderful history of success, has this Peabody Medical Institute, and it has extended its usefulness not only throughout the length and breadth of this land, but in the countries of Europe and Asia. So systematic are the methods pursued in the conduct of the business pertaining to this institution that it can treat by letter at any distance the most obstinate cases of diseases which come within the scope of its treatment.

The Peabody Medical Institute, also, has done a vast amount of philanthropic work in its publications, which, while being standard medical works, are yet written for the purpose of bringing about that most necessary condition of self-knowledge that is embodied in the motto, "Know Thyself." Indeed, there is no estimating the value of such publications, written as these are for popular comprehension, for they disseminate the information that is most essential to the man or woman who would lead a moral, sober and virtuous life.

Filling such a useful sphere in the education and enlightenment of the world, and in "ministering to the mind diseased," as well as the body, as is the case in most nervous diseases, it is not to be wondered at that the Peabody Medical Institute lives and thrives, but the wonder would be that it should not live and extend its influence in behalf of suffering humanity.—Boston, Mass., Herald, Dec. 19, 1888.

KILLED BY BURGLARS.

A Dentist's Wife Mysteriously Murdered at Trenton.

CHLOROFORMED TO DEATH.

Mrs. Kniffin Found Dead, the House in Great Disorder, and Pretty Miss Purcell Unconscious on the Floor. The Latter's Story.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 4.—The city has been startled by the discovery of the murder of Mrs. Arthur Kniffin, the handsome wife of one of the city's leading dentists. She was found suffocated to death in her apartments, and the tragedy is most mysterious, though burglars are generally believed to be the murderers.

Dr. Kniffin is away from home, having gone to Warren county Thursday morning on a business trip. The discovery of the murder was made by Dr. Shannon, Dr. Kniffin's partner, who came to the dental rooms from his boarding house, a block away.

On entering the house he found all the rooms in a state of confusion. The drawers in the tables of the operating room on the second floor had been drawn out and their contents scattered over the floor. Proceeding to the laboratory and other rooms on the same floor there was equal disorder.

An Awful Scene in a Bedroom. The Kniffins' sleeping apartments were overhauled, and Dr. Shannon, not finding Mrs. Kniffin about, went to the third story to investigate further.

The door of the nearest room was open, and on the floor lay the unconscious form of Miss Purcell, a pretty typewriter and a relative of the family, who had been boarding with the Kniffins. She was in her night robe. Dr. Shannon at first knocked violently on the door, but failing to raise Miss Purcell, went nearer and shook her arm. This also failing, he looked further, and in an adjoining chamber saw Mrs. Kniffin lying in bed, her features horribly distorted, her right arm across her forehead and the hand clinched as if it had been squeezed in a vise. It took but a moment to decide that she was dead.

Dr. Shepard, a neighboring physician, was called and the police were notified. Miss Purcell being still alive, prompt attention was given to her, but it took an hour's exertion to bring her to.

To Chief McChesney she then told the following story:

Miss Purcell's Story. "Mrs. Kniffin and I retired at an early hour at night, occupying the same apartment on the third floor. She was restless and complained of not being sleepy. Finally I fell asleep. The next thing I knew I was aroused by her screams. I don't know what hour it was, but think it may have been about 3 o'clock. Mrs. Kniffin screamed 'Burglars!'

"I immediately sprang from the bed and ran into the next room, intending to raise a window and shout for help. I was seized, however, by a man who threw me to the floor and applied a handkerchief to my face. At the same time I saw Mrs. Kniffin struggling with another man, who was holding her down in bed. I then became unconscious."

Miss Purcell is still quite prostrated, and for that reason will not be further questioned for the present.

Neither she nor Dr. Shannon could detect the loss of any valuable articles such as burglars might carry off.

Little Stolen and the House Locked.

The police are rather puzzled over the affair because of the studious effort apparently made to give the greatest possible air of confusion to every apartment, while the booty, if there was any, must have been insignificant. The house, the police say, was also found tightly locked up, and it is difficult to see how the burglars entered or retreated. Even if they had skeleton keys it seems strange that they should have taken the precaution to lock the doors again after coming out.

Further mystery is added by the recollection that about a month ago another robbery was reported at the house, with the information furnished by Mrs. Kniffin that a burglar had held a revolver over her head while his accomplice ransacked her room. On that occasion also Dr. Kniffin was away.

The couple lived happily together. They had one child, a 10-year-old son, who slept through the night's events undisturbed. In the dental rooms there were, of course, various specialties, and it is believed chloroform was used.

Chloroform on the Bed Quilt. A corner of Mrs. Kniffin's bed quilt was found saturated, as if this had been applied to her face.

There were no marks of violence on her body, except that her right hand was clinched as if squeezed in a man's strong grasp.

Coroner Bower took charge of the remains, and the police are guarding the rooms inviolate until the return of Dr. Kniffin, who has been telegraphed for. Augustus A. Reid, one of the first to enter the house, claims that the rear door was unlocked.

A National Loan and Savings Association.

BUFFALO, Jan. 4.—There is a movement on foot to organize a National Loan and Savings association, with headquarters at Buffalo, and branch offices in several northern and eastern cities. The capital will be $500,000. J. W. Woodruff, of this city, and Mr. Feroe, of Iowa, are the projectors. The idea is to receive deposits as low as sixty cents a share for shares of stock of $100 each. Every depositor must take at least two shares, making the lowest deposit $120 a month on two shares. Interest is paid at 10 per cent at the least. This is made possible by the compound interest obtained by the investments, which will be placed mostly in the west. Shareholders can borrow on their stock up to 90 per cent of their deposits and pay the same rate of interest to the association that outside borrowers pay. A meeting will be held this afternoon to consummate the organization of the association.

Another Chance for the Committee. WILLIAMS, Cal., Jan. 4.—Daniel Matheson was shot in a saloon here by Joseph Casey and died soon thereafter. Casey is under arrest. He is a son of Joseph Casey, who was hanged by the San Francisco vigilance committee in 1856 for murdering James King.

Stabbed with the Shears.

AKRON, O., Jan. 4.—Rosa Stake, the little daughter of a Green township farmer, fell on the points of a pair of shears Tuesday evening, the blade piercing her heart. She pulled it out and the blood gushed in a stream, and in an instant the little one was dead.

THE EMPIRE IN PERIL.

A Plot Against the Russian Government and the Czar Discovered.

OFFICIALS IMPLICATED.

The Conspiracy Extends to the Royal Court and Imperial Guards—Thirty-two Under Arrest—The Spanish Ministry Resign—Other News.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Private letters brought by hand from St. Petersburg affirm that a conspiracy has been discovered, not only against the life of the czar, but for the overthrow of the empire and all autocratic government in Russia.

Persons implicated in this plot have been found in the highest ranks of the army, in the court and the aristocracy.

A Reign of Terror. Arrests are of daily and nightly occurrence, and there is a reign of terror among the suspected, no one knowing when he may be visited by the police.

A cipher despatch from St. Petersburg announces that thirty-two officers of the army are under arrest.

The czar continues ill, and his illness has not been satisfactorily accounted for. Contradictory reports of the cause and character of his complaint are put into circulation by the court.

A Serious Crisis at Hand.

No explanation is given of the arrests made within the imperial palace at Gatchina since the czar was taken ill.

Everything indicates that a serious crisis has arisen or is at hand. The Nihilist leader, Pierre, has been arrested. He was taken at Warsaw, and on his person and at his lodgings the police have found pamphlets and letters involving a number of officers of the Imperial guard in what is believed to be a desperate Nihilist plot against the life of the czar.

The Evolution Squadron Afflicted.

A BRIDGE SPAN BLOWN DOWN.

One Workman Killed and Two Injured at Springfield, Mass.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 4.—The fifth span of the new iron bridge which is being built between Holyoke and South Hadley Falls was blown down at about 10 o'clock in the morning, and one of the workmen, named Maurice Driscoll, of Eagle Bridge, N. Y., was killed.

Two other men who were at work on the bridge were injured. Driscoll was on top of the truss on the north side when it went over and was carried down with the iron work into the river seventy feet below. He was probably killed before striking the water.

A workman named McCloskey was rescued from the river after the accident, being found hanging to one of the stringers of the bridge.

About thirty men were at work on the span, but as soon as the trusses began to settle they were given warning and all but the three mentioned escaped to other spans. Some pedestrians and carriages had very narrow escapes.

Brown Turns Up Missing Again.

Boston, Jan. 4.—Although it was announced Wednesday that G. F. Brown, treasurer of Riverside and Oswego mills, and member of the firm of Brown, Stearns & Clark, was ill at the Parker house here, and unable to appear in court, it was stated there that he had left the hotel. Mr. F. Dickinson, Jr., counsel for Stearns & Clark, said he was quite sure the assignees had not been in any way concerned in the return of Brown. Judge Lowell, who is counsel for Brown, says he has not seen his client since the latter returned from Montreal. In regard to his whereabouts Judge Lowell could give no information.

Indians Want to Go to School.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 4.—Governor Hoard was visited Thursday afternoon by a number of Winnebago Indians from Marathon county, headed by the chief, Big Hawk, who came to solicit his support in securing for the children of the tribe the privilege of attending the state public schools. The governor promised to render aid in helping them to better educational facilities, and the red men are pleased at the prospect. The Indians do not take kindly to the mission schools provided by the national government.

Girls and Their Photographs.

Learn to say no when asked for your photograph by some one not especially dear to you. There is in that little word much that will protect you from evil tongues. Learn to think that your face is too sacred to decorate the apartment of Tom, Dick or Harry, no matter if each one of the three is one of the pleasantest fellows in the world. When the sun imprinted in black and white, just how sweet and how dainty you look, it did not mean that the picture should have incense in the shape of tobacco smoke, or dubious praise in the form of a discussion of your points rendered to it. Give away your picture with discretion.

Remember that some day will come along Prince Charming, who will have a right, the right owned by the master of the heart, to ask for the counterfeit presentment of yourself after he knows that he is going to have the real girl for his own. Think how mortified you would be if he should discover that the giving away of your photograph has been almost as general as the invitations to your New Year's party. Think how he will feel if he sees your face looking over the mantel-shelf in Dick's room—Dick whom he knows to be a braggart, and a man for whom he has the utmost contempt! Then just learn to say no. Don't display your photographs to your men friends, and you will not have this unpleasant task; but if you should do it, and have not the courage to say the little monosyllable, be wise and refer them to papa.—Ladies' Home Journal.

—A surprise party was given Mr. P. B. Waddle, of Buffalo Run, on last Sunday in honor of his 80th birthday. About one hundred friends were assembled, many from Bellefonte being in attendance.
—A Bellefonte young man has been arrested and jailed for stealing an umbrella. From the many cases on record it had always heretofore been supposed that there was no law against such a theft.
—Last Monday the county auditors began the auditing of the annual county statement, and they expect to be through their work in time to have it distributed by the first week in February.
—The firm of J. S. Waite & Co., of this place, dealers in agricultural implements wagons, buggies, etc., are continually improving their manufactory. They are a good firm and reliable persons to deal with.
—Talk of hard times now would be entirely out of place. Why the Clearfield papers this week published twenty-two marriage notices and if that is not proof of good times ahead we would like to know what is.
—The Logan Foundry and Machine Works are crowded with orders at the present time, and no wonder for they do excellent work. Mr. S. M. Buck, the manager, is a good business man and a courteous gentleman to deal with.
—During the month of December the company of which J. L. Spangler Esq., is a member mined 28,000 tons of coal at their mines near Hastings, Cambria county, and could have made the output larger if they could have had the cars.
—Miss Edith Clark, of Blanchard, rode a horseback to Beech Creek on Tuesday afternoon and, while returning to Blanchard, the horse frightened and the lady was thrown against a telephone pole and badly injured. She was removed to her home in Blanchard on Wednesday.
—The Senior class of the High school or the class of '90 are now at work preparing a history of the class which they expect to be able to issue in about one month. It will be an interesting work and one that every parent should procure. It will contain about one hundred pages and be illustrated with choice cuts as well as comic cartoons.
—COAL OIL.—James Solt wants it distinctly understood that the extra good quality of oil he sells is for himself and not for anybody else, as has been reported.

Hopkins' Execution.

GOVERNOR BEAVER HAS SIGNED THE DEATH WARRANT AND NAMES

Thursday, February 20th, 1890,

As the Day of Execution. Only 48
More Days in Which to Make His Peace With God and Man.

Governor James A. Beaver has signed the death warrant of W. Seely Hopkins, now in the Centre county jail under sentence of death for the murder of his wife and mother-in-law, and the day and date of his execution has been fixed for Thursday, February 20th, 1890.

This leaves but forty-eight days, after this day is over, in which the condemned man will have to live—only forty-eight days in which to make his peace with God and man.

As soon as the death warrant arrives it will be Sheriff Cooke's duty to read the same to the prisoner. This will doubtless be an unpleasant duty but the Sheriff will doubtless regard it in the light of a duty that must be discharged and, although it be with some trepidation there certainly will be no hesitation.

Hopkins, the prisoner, has been a living enigma. No man can solve him and what he really thinks or feels only God and himself know. Ever since his incarceration, now going on four months, through all the trying time of suspense in awaiting his fate at the hands of twelve chosen men, through all the trying ordeal of a three days trial for his life, when he listened to the verdict of "guilty" as rendered by the jury, when Judge Furst passed the sentence of death on him, and ever since while calmly awaiting his fate, there has never been but one time when the Sheriff detected any evidence of remorse for what he had done. That was several weeks prior to his trial when, on entering his cell, Sheriff Cooke found him lying on his cot crying. That was the only time that ever any evidence was noticed that he was either sorry for what he had done or was overcome by the thought of his probable fate.

Since the trial he has kept up a better spirit than before, if that were possible. He discusses with apparent unconcern the entire affair. He requested to be allowed to make his own scaffold and he has made arrangements for the disposition of his body, which will be claimed by his brother and taken to Rochester, N. Y., for interment. The execution will only be witnessed by the requisite number as required by law.

Death of an Aged Lady.
On Thursday afternoon Miss Lucy Burnside, an aged maiden lady and a daughter of the renowned Judge Burnside, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Boal, on Spring street. The deceased was well known by everybody in Bellefonte, and up till her late illness, could frequently be seen on the street, most always with a book in her hand, as she was a great lover of literature. Her sister, Mrs. Boal, with whom she made her home, is also ill, we are sorry to note.

The funeral occurred on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Boal, on Spring street. Interment in Union cemetery.

Dancing.
Following is the idea of a school boy about dancing. We give it in his own words, because to fix it up would be to spoil it:

Dancing is a very pleasant thing young ladies like to dance very much; there is a dancing teacher in town and learn people to dance some dance too long and hurt themselves every year there are dancing going on dancing goes on all over the world the best dancing people are from Spain, and from France. The Indians cannot dance as nice as any other people can when they ain't civilized; when they dance they hoop and yell like a dog that is hurt.

—Rev. A. K. Felton, pastor of the Lutheran church, Philadelphia, and who is well known in this place, carries with him a curiosity in the shape of a large picture of his church, perhaps five feet square, composed entirely of the names of people who have paid one dollar toward his enterprise. The clouds, trees and foregrounds are made up of scripture prophecy. The reverend gentleman is an indefatigable worker, earnest and enthusiastic in his calling and deserves success.

—There came very near being a disastrous conflagration in Philadelphia on Christmas day. In some way fire originated between the ceiling and attic floor of the house of J. C. Williams, and had it not been for the timely discovery, the house would have been entirely destroyed and the flames would have undoubtedly communicated to other parts of the town, as the wind was blowing a gale. As it was, however, the house was not much harmed by fire, but entirely despoiled by water.

—Mr. Charles Campbell and Miss Emma Parker, both of Philadelphia, were married in that place on Tuesday, December 24, 1889. The wedding ceremony was performed in the M. E. church. Will S. Dunwiddie was first and James Isenberg second groomsmen, Miss Mollie Cook and Miss Mary Thomas were the bridesmaids. The ushers were Messrs. S. S. Crissman, and H. C. Williams, the latter editor of the Philadelphia Ledger. Miss May Hayworth played the wedding march. The happy couple went west for an extended bridal tour.

Unionville Items.
Christmas passed off quietly but there are a few less turkeys in town now than before that event.

There was a Christmas tree in the Methodist church on Christmas eve and many hearts were made glad by the pleasant little remembrances and gifts of their friends.

A turkey and ice cream supper was held in the Presbyterian church the latter part of the week.

Rev. B. B. Henshey and wife, of Philadelphia, Pa., have been guests of Mr. T. E. Griest for a few days.

Mr. J. F. Barton took a holiday trip all the way to Punxsutawney, Pa., and nearly stuck fast in the mud out there.

Mr. George L. Peters has bid good bye to his friends here and gone to live with his son in Kansas.

The Baptist congregation have been conducting a protracted meeting for about two weeks and a few baptisms have taken place.

The bright young attorney-at-law, J. C. Miller, Esq., of Clearfield, Pa., has been spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Stephens, of this place.

Mrs. J. Cleaver has taken a trip to Adams county to visit relatives.

Mrs. Isaac Underwood, of Spring Mills, came to town on the 31st ult., to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Hannah Rowan.

Surprise Party at Millheim.
The friends and acquaintances of Dr. G. S. Frank, of Millheim, gathered at his pleasant home on Christmas noon and gave the genial doctor a surprise that he did not expect, and also brought him a very nice Christmas present in the shape of an elegant Elk robe. The following persons were assembled: Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. D. Musser, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Youngman, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Leitzler, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brumgar, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weaver, Dr. E. M. Miller, Mr. J. A. Harter, Mrs. A. M. Weaver, and Mrs. R. Torny. The doctor was ignorant of the good intentions of his friends until he went in to his dinner and found them all there, so that his surprise was great and genuine.

That "Gym."
The apparatus for the Y M C A gymnasium has arrived and is ready to be put up, which will not be for a few days yet. The gymnasium room, as it now is, is just a splendid place in which to practice hand ball, and all lovers of that sport should avail themselves of the opportunity before the apparatus is put in place. At present Rev. James P. Hughes and Mr. G. W. Rees are the two champions at that sport and openly challenge anybody in Bellefonte to play with them.

—Thursday evening one of the engines of the Lewisburg and Tyrone train got off the track a short distance this side of Warriorstown and it was almost midnight when the passengers got into town. Among these were a newly married couple, who because of the detention, footed it back to Warriorstown and did not get rightly started on their wedding trip until Friday. A slight wreck occurred on the same road Friday at Dunganville, caused by a bent axle.

—"The story of Johnstown" as it will be written from personal observation by the editor of the Harrisburg Telegram. Mr. James M. Place, will be the most valuable, because the most graphic, most beautifully illustrated and the best gotten up, in every way, history of that awful catastrophe published. It will be no cheap edition but a book the style and make up of which will commend it to all. Agents for the work now wanted as it soon will be in print. See advertisement elsewhere.

—The notorious Scott Wilson thus discourteously: "One more year silently entombed in the hoary sepulchre of the dead ages. Time, the grim potentate, praying upon himself, as well as upon the spoils of Decay and Death, speeds his flying car onward with velocity only appreciated by those who, recalling with vivid memory, childhood's recollections, are amazed so soon to find "threads of silver 'mong the jet." We do not moralize now—we remember. It is the genius of history that presides over New Year's Day and recalls of the past. In the light of all ages, how weak, how finite is a human life!"

NOT SO BAD AS REPORTED.

The Failure of Curtin & Co., Was no
Failure at All But Only Confessed Judgment.

The Daily News is glad to announce that the reported complete failure of Curtin & Co. is not so bad as reported and will not result in the shutting down of those valuable works but only a few days suspension which time they take to arrange their somewhat embarrassed financial standing. The liabilities are not near so large as stated in the Daily News on Thursday, namely $200,000, but instead, are only $80,551.72. The announcement that there had been an assignment made was also premature as it was only judgment confessed in favor of several parties to the amounts as they were entered and appeared against them and which are as follows:

In favor of	$ 840.00
" " "	494.75
" " "	866.25
" " " J. P. Harris, trustee,	14,479.90
" " " J. M. Dale, "	20,600.00
" " " J. M. Dale, "	42,838.12
" " "	533.70
making a total of	$90,551.72

The above is a correct statement of all the liabilities of the firm and the assets will undoubtedly be sufficiently large to cover more than that amount. A Daily News representative has been reliably informed by a member of the Company that the works will remain idle but a few days when everything will be satisfactorily arranged and they will resume operations as strong as ever.

It is a pleasure to record this fact as this has always been a good, reliable company and one that Centre county could ill afford to do without. We hope that everything will be speedily adjusted and that ere many months the financial condition of the firm will be as solid as ever.

AT BUSH GROVE.
A PLACE WHERE EVERYTHING IS LOVELY AND ERENE.

Bush Grove school house is the best kept and most tidy and comfortable in the township.

Mr. Joe Bing is the great pugilist of Unionville.

Mr. Calvin Gates, one of our best young men, accompanied by his sister-in-law, Miss Eva Bush, paid a visit to the Huntington Reformatory last week and report having a good time.

Jacob Shank's home was made glad the other night by the arrival of a young son. Mr. Shank has rented Mr. W. F. Reeder's farm and, as he is a first-class farmer, Mr. Reeder was fortunate in securing him.

A great deal of sickness prevails here at present. Mr. John Breon and Mr. Harry Kunes are seriously ill. If the man with the faith cure would come around perhaps we might be benefited thereby.

Mr. James Nolan, a prosperous merchant of Marsh Creek, tarried a night in this place last week, looking after the interests of his business.

Mr. Edward Poorman, the enterprising merchant of Wallace Run, has been ill the last few weeks with typhoid fever. Through the skillful treatment of Dr. Grove, of Milesburg, he will certainly recover.

A tramp stopped for a night at the home of Mr. C. M. Resides not long ago, who was about starved judging from what he ate for his supper. Five slices of bread from a large loaf, and for his breakfast the same amount of bread, drank three cups of coffee and wound up on about a yard of sausage. Before leaving he informed the family that as his appetite was out of order and he could not eat much breakfast he would like a little something to take along for a ten o'clock piece.

The stump doctor was with us last week and tried her remedy on a patient here. Her medicine is labeled "Pain Pain" and to be taken before going to bed, which I think is extremely wrong. It should be humbugged "Elixir" and not to be taken at all. Young men, read the directions. Her name is bound to sell and she hails from Pole Cat Hollow.

The young man of this community who went to Vail station to learn telegraphy did not stay long. He says he has learned the trade and tried to put in a machine at his lady love's home. Sorry to say he was disappointed as the young lady's mother gave him to understand that her house was no place for any such machinery. We would be sorry to hear of any other young man attached to one spot as he is. Operator's luck, however.

Not long ago your correspondent took a trip to what is known as Fairview Settlement, about two and one-half miles from Curtin's iron works. The country is very hilly but the residents there enjoy pure water and air, at least. They are all a very hospitable people. At Mr. David Lucas' home, his two charming daughters Mary and Julia favored us with a rare musical treat. They are both expert musicians. The four Niman brothers are prosperous farmers. Mr. James Nolan is the merchant there and being a man of good education and much energy, does quite a large business. So to Fairview Settlement!

Cure Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever.
The Butler Herald of last week contains this recipe: "The following recipe is sent us for the cure of diphtheria and scarlet fever, with the request that it be published. The medicines are easily obtained and are very simple and have been used in the last 33 years. We give the recipe for the benefit of those who may be unable to obtain the service of a competent physician, and on the recommendation of the oldest citizens of Butler county. Give a good physic of salt; mix a tablespoonful of sulphur in a cup with sugar and water and give immediately after the salts; take good cider vinegar and grate into it a quantity of horse radish, sup it and eat the radish, the more the better; also coat the throat with sulphur after eating, and give from one to two tablespoonfuls daily, or enough to keep the bowels moving freely two or three days. If the throat is ulcerated fill a goose quill with sulphur and blow on them; also give a tablespoonful of good whiskey three or four times a day.

In Other Counties.
Cambria county's argument court will meet at Ebensburg on Monday.

George Lysinger, an old and respected citizen of Bedford, died last week in the 91st year of his age.

The farmers of Perry county will hold an institute in New Bloomfield next week, beginning on Tuesday.

James S. Lytle has been held for court by a Johnstown justice on a charge of stealing a carload of shingles.

The Bedford Inquirer, one of the handsomest and best country papers in the state, has entered on its 63d year.

John Lambert, a miner at the Yough slope, near West Newton, Westmoreland county, was killed by a fall of slate Thursday afternoon. He was a resident of West Newton, aged about 28 years and unmarried.

Ida Lowe, aged 19, who went from Petersburg to Huntingdon, on Thursday to take service in the family of H. D. Reiners. At 2 o'clock Friday morning groans were heard issuing from the room occupied by Miss Lowe, and upon examination the room was found to be filled with gas. The girl was removed to another room and every effort made to resuscitate her, but without avail.

A SCARED EDITOR.
A rugged farmer stalked into the sanctum with a whip under his arm.
"Be you the editor?" "I am," was the half apprehensive reply.
"For two dollars—send me your paper, for life," he said.

"You see," he went on, "our daughter was sick and like to die; she drooped and grew weak and pale, had headaches, no appetite, back ached, hands and feet like ice, couldn't sleep, harked with cough, and we thought she had consumption. No medicine helped her until she tried that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription mentioned in your paper, when she began to mend in no time and is now well and handsome as a rose—put me down as a life subscriber."

Now that editor is looking for another source. The medicine has cured thousands afflicted as was the farmer's daughter, restoring the female functions to healthy action, and removing the obstructions and suppressions which caused her trouble. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or prior $1.00 refunded. It's a legitimate medicine, not a beverage. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no opium or sugar to form a habit in the stomach and derange digestion.

Only Temperance Bitters Known.

GRANDEST - MODERN - DISCOVERY
Triumph of Pharmacy
The only true practical

ELIXIR OF LIFE AND HEALTH.
is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by a child or infant. Profrane compounds, made of pure, refined, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c., produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervous stimulant, being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

A GENUINE TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE, far surpassing alcohol in any shape as a tonic it might be called.

LIQUID LIFE:
since it stimulates, invigorates and regulates digestion, nutrition, secretion, excretion, respiration, and all the functions whereby life is maintained—we literally take it vitality in spoonful.

It is too much to say "that the equal of Vinegar Bitters does not exist, and no compound or compound with similar virtues has ever been known."

CALIFORNIA.
If remarkable for nothing else, would be immortalized by the production of the medicinal fruits, roots and herbs of which this Bitters is composed. Many of them used by the Indians and the medical profession in the treatment of chills and fevers, rheumatism, catarrh, consumption, neuritis, headache, liver complaint, kidney disease, jaundice, gout, piles, boils, skin diseases, &c., &c., too numerous to mention, but easily understood, the action of the Bitters on the vital functions is remembered. The discovery was partly accidental but the present

Local Department.

—In 1890 we shall see events as follows come to be: Sea serpents, as in years gone by, will come around about July. Each fisherman will fish and lie as he has done in years gone by. The gay mosquito, as of yore, into humanity will bore. The funny man his jokes will crack (The same old jokes, see almanac). In all trades merchants who are wise, as usual, will advertise.

—Rents in some places are coming down.

—This is the week of prayer at the Presbyterian church.

—The crop of calendars for 1890 are still being garnered.

—The funeral of Miss Lucy Burnside occurred on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—Mr. J. A. Bing, of Fleming, desires us to say that he is not the greatest pugilist of that place, by any means.

—What need to emigrate to Lower California or any other tropical clime so long as this kind of weather lasts?

—A "Johnstown wonder" was opened up in vacant store room next Eureka Grocery Co. on Saturday. To see it was worth a dime.

—Mrs. Charles Moore has moved her dressmaking establishment from East High street to the Brockerhoff building on Bishop street.

—When you have a personal item hand it to us or telephone us and we will be glad to publish it and greatly obliged to you for the favor.

—Paul Sternberg, of the post office force, and Earle C. Tuten, of the Eureka Grocery Co., are now on the sick list. We trust they will both soon recover.

—Prof. R. M. Wilson, principal of the Philadelphia High School, has announced himself as a candidate for the office of county superintendent of public schools.

—The rainfall for the last year has been 69.68 inches, which is an excess of 3.34 inches over any previous year since the inauguration of the signal service bureau.

—Mr. Frank Marden, representing a large boot and shoe manufactory of Massachusetts, is at present in Bellefonte the guest of his cousin, Mr. Edward T. Tuten.

—It is now definitely settled that Rev. Dr. McGlynn will lecture in Bellefonte on January 14th. Look for his advertisement which will appear in this paper to-morrow.

—On Friday evening, January 10th, Dr. George L. Potter Post, No. 261, Dept. of Pa. G. A. R., of Milesburg, will hold their installation meeting to install the officers for the coming year.

—Mrs. Southworth, the woman who shot and killed Stephen Pettus, the wealthy Brooklyn man, in New York recently, died in the Tombs at 6.15 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

—We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend the Florida International and Semi-Tropical Exposition, which will be held at Ocala, Florida, from January 15th to April 1st 1890.

—So many people are predicting "very cold weather after this warm spell." Doubtless there will be, but what they fail to tell us and what we are most interested in is "how long will this warm spell last?"

—A gentleman told a DAILY NEWS man on Saturday that if Albert Andrews did not murder Clara Price that he knew who did. Better look the matter up and ascertain towards which one suspicion directs the strongest.

—The annual session of the Order of United American Mechanics of Pennsylvania will be held in Harrisburg beginning on the first Tuesday in May next. It is expected that the hall of the house of representatives will be the place of meeting.

—Mr. Glass, of near Martinsburg, Blair county, while ploughing on Saturday of last week, observed that his lead horse was sinking, and before he could rescue it both animals sank fifteen feet in the earth. The cause of the cave-in is unknown.

—Captain William White, of Pine Glenn, died on Thursday, January 2nd, 1890, aged 76 years, 5 months and 9 days. The funeral occurred on Sunday. Next week we shall endeavor to publish an interesting sketch of the life of Mr. White.

—The State Horticultural Association, of Pennsylvania, will meet in the Court House on Wednesday and Thursday, January 15th and 16th, 1890. Eminent specialists in horticulture, floriculture, etc., will be present. All sessions open to the public free, and every one welcome to take part in the discussion.

—The publishers of "Southern Society and Drama," No. 60 Main Street, Norfolk, Va., desire a correspondent in this section to attend theatres and society meetings and forward report of same. Credentials for admittance furnished. Address with stamped envelope for reply.

"I GOT MY DOSE"

Is WHAT SEELY HOPKINS TOLD A "DAILY NEWS" MAN AND THEN ADDED

AND I TOOK IT LIKE A MAN.

As Others saw Him—His Written Statement—Interesting Incidents, Etc.

On Saturday evening Sheriff Cooke, having received the official death warrant signed by Governor Beaver of W. Seely Hopkins, proceeded to the cell of the condemned man to read the same to him. The Sheriff was accompanied by Dr. Smith, of Howard, as witness. It was undoubtedly an unpleasant duty for any man to perform but the Sheriff performed it conscientiously and sacredly as he has performed all the duties that are incumbent on him in his office.

During the reading of the instrument of death Hopkins never quailed. The only perceptible change at all noticeable was a slight quickening of the pulse and a hardly perceptible change of countenance, but not one tremor. The paper was quite long and twice during the reading of it the Sheriff was visibly affected but the man, whose days he was numbering was firm as adamant.

A DAILY NEWS man went up to see him on Monday and his first greeting was the words that form the first heading of this article. He candidly declared that it did not affect him in the least. That he was going to enjoy himself as long as he could and was not worrying himself about anything. In a few days now his two sisters will arrive in Bellefonte and they, it is understood, will abide here until all is over. His brother will not come until after the execution when he comes to convey the body to the family home in Rochester, N. Y.

Since his conviction Hopkins has been shown every attention possible, although it must be said that he is not exacting. He has had his negative taken and 138 photographs struck off, all of which he has disposed of either by sale at 25 cents a piece or by giving them away. He has ordered 150 more and he says he will dispose of them in a short time. The money he receives in this way he spends to gratify his own whims. He is a veritable spendthrift and as generous to others as he is to himself. He is now getting a couple pictures enlarged, by an Altoona house, which he intends sending to his family.

HIS LAST STATEMENT.

For the past several weeks Hopkins has been busily engaged in writing his last true statement and confession and it is now about completed. When done it would probably fill one-half of the DAILY NEWS. It is the intention of the condemned man to put it up at a bidding of newspaper men and who ever bids the highest will get it in toto with all the title, rights and privileges of exclusive publication in a newspaper and the right to publish it in book form, if desired. It is a full history of his life from boyhood up to the present time and from the tenor of it we take it to be as near true and correct as it will ever be possible to get a history of his career.

In it Hopkins tells all about himself up to the time he met and married Maggie Wigamen. In his relations with her and her family, which began so auspiciously and ended so tragically, Hopkins relates everything in a way that gives credence to his version. While he tells of the conduct of his wife and her mother and blames them for many things, he in no way excuses himself on that score, but in numberless instances shows where he did wrong, and where, if he had been different, such and such things might have been averted. He blames himself rather more than he does anyone else. His confession of the double tragedy is correct and shows study and deliberation.

There is one noticeable thing about his statement in its entirety and that is that it certainly is not the work of an insane man. It is understood that he has already had an offer of $25 for his manuscript but he is still holding it for a higher bidder, in other words when he has it ready for sale the man who will pay the most can have it.

The Price of Hay.

Owing to the mild weather during this winter, the cattle in the surrounding counties, which are usually supplied with baled hay when snow is on the ground, are still grazing which has curtailed the consumption of hay very materially; the result of which is, that the demand for hay from our balers and shippers in Centre county is exceedingly limited, making dealing in baled hay a dull business.

Choice mixed hay..... $5.00 per ton
Prime Timothy hay..... 4.50 per ton
Choice Timothy..... 3.90 per ton.
Bulk or loose hay is being sold by the wagon load in adjoining counties at less than above prices. It will be well for buyers to "look a little out" when buying loose hay by the wagon load.

time vigor in politics; in fact, he would hustle a young opponent yet in the political field.

GREGG POST INSTALLATION.

NO. 95, DEPT. OF PA. G. A. R. PUBLICLY INSTALLS THEIR OFFICERS FOR THE EN-SUING YEAR.

On Monday evening, after a short private session, the folding doors between the Post room and the library were thrown open and those assembled escorted into the main hall by the gallant veterans present. Promptly at 5 minutes of eight o'clock Past Commander, James H. Rankin, let fall the gavel as a signal to come to order and immediately thereafter announced that the Post had chosen ex-Past Commander Capt. A. Mullen, as installing officer, and that gentleman would please come forward and assume his office. With stately, soldier like tread Mr. Mullen strode up to the seat of dignity and at once proceeded with the business of the meeting. The following officers-elect were then called forward and installed:

S. V. C.—Charles Eckenroth; J. V. C.—Thomas Donachy; Surgeon—William Gehret; Q. M.—Wm. Jones; O. of D.—A. V. Smith; O. of G.—S. H. Griffith. The same oath of office was administered to all at the same time and, after they had promised "so to do" as required by the Post, they were each and everyone conducted to their place of official position by the retiring officer of day, S. H. Williams. Chaplain F. P. Green was then called forward and the oath of office administered to him, after which the Commander elect, Thos. R. Benner, was escorted to the altar and the oath duly administered. The one appointment of the Commander is that of Adjutant and here already the new Commander exercised good judgment by appointing R. C. Irvin to that position. Adjutant Irvin was called to the altar and duly installed. By the rules and regulations of the G. A. R. the Adjutant and Quartermaster have a right to choose an assistant and the right was exercised Monday night by the new incumbents, in the choice of A. E. Hamilton as Assistant Adjutant and W. S. Port as Assistant Quartermaster. The installation of these two chosen officers was the last on the programme, and at its conclusion installing officer, Capt. Mullen, graciously yielded up the chair in favor of the new Commander, who was at once escorted thereto, making a short and well-worded speech appropriate to the occasion. He was particularly thankful to the Woman's Relief Corps for what they had done for the Post.

Past Commander Jas. H. Rankin, made a retiring speech in which he stated that during his year of office he had been at every meeting of the Post. He retired leaving the finance in as good condition and with a larger membership than when he was elected, and that during his term of office there had not been one death in the Post.

S. H. Williams then came on duty and shot off his little gun to the entire satisfaction and entertainment of all, but he soon run out of ammunition, and then Comrade Green of Milesburg, took up the firing. The battle was all one-sided and, although hot while it lasted, was soon over with. During a short cessation of hostilities Comrade Fitzgerald took occasion to present the newly installed Officer of Guard with a box of "tools" that "he would find very handy in the discharge of his duties. This file is to either take the edge off or put the edge on any who may need it and this is for the gripper," presenting an old broken pair of tongs.

Comrade Munser, of Milesburg had a volley to fire and he shot it at a hidden mark namely, the American flag that the Post kept in the closet. The present financial report of the Post shows a relief fund of $68.17, and a post fund of $32.40, while $500 have been invested in real estate in the village of Pine Grove in the interest of the relief fund.

Ex-Commander Rankin again gives the fire a poke and this time opens quite a lively fire considerable of which he directs toward the defenceless ladies. And he could not be stopped, either, until he in very suitable expressions, presented to the retiring President of the W. R. C. on behalf of her lady associates, a very handsome lamp "for her untiring efforts and devotion in behalf of the Women's Relief Corps. As an individual present to that lady from Mrs. H. H. Benner was presented a "Shawl" (sachet) bag. Mrs. Donachy was taken completely by surprise and could only express her earnest, heartfelt thanks for that expression of appreciation.

Old Comrade Fulton told of how he saved a little colored boy's life while he was in the army, doing that much good anyway, and then Capt. Mullen stood guard and told part of his experience as a twelve months' prisoner.

By this time the fire got pretty low and a motion to adjourn was made and entertained.

The Post room is now a model of beauty, having been re-papered in very nice and handsome paper, done in an artistic way, and painted also in a style and grade to correspond. It is now conceded to be, with the exception of one other, the handsomest set of rooms in the Department of Pennsylvania.

AT SNOW SHOE.

A Favorite Correspondent Sends us a Good Grist of News.

Rev. J. W. Bedford delivered a lecture on "Circuit Walking in the South" at the M. E. Church on last Wednesday evening. It was both amusing and instructive.

Mr. Cameron Boak kept bachelor's hall a few days last week. His wife and daughter, Edith, were visiting friends at Hughesville, Pa.

Mrs. E. A. Nolan, proprietress of the Mountain House, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Davidson, of Bellefonte, are visiting friends at Atkinson, Kansas.

A number of our citizens have been slightly attacked with the Grippe. Among whom are Capt. Bogart, Jas. P. Irvin and Henry Redding.

Misses Miller and Stewart, two charming young ladies of Huntingdon, Pa., are guests at the residence of Miss Fannie Stewart.

The funeral of Capt. William White took place on Sunday at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. J. W. Bedford delivered the funeral sermon at the residence of the deceased in German Settlement.

Mr. Samuel Dickson has purchased the one half of the Zindle lot upon which his oyster saloon now stands. Consideration, $200. He has also purchased of Mrs. Bagley, of Phillipsburg, the Bagley photograph gallery of which he is going to build a first class chicken coop.

On the first day of the new year a very disgraceful scene occurred on our streets. Several natives of Snow Shoe with a lot of Hungarians, made drunken bogs of themselves and it looked at one time as if nothing short of a riot would be the ultimate result.

Mrs. Albert Potts, of Big Run, Pa., who was formerly a resident of our town, visited her Snow Shoe friends last week. They have sold their house and lot near Clarence to Samuel Freeze, who recently received a pension from the government.

We would like to know why a certain young lady of this place don't use her papa's telephone to talk to her sweetheart instead of using the one in the Lehigh Valley office.

New Year's evening brought a surprise to the Methodist parsonage at Snow Shoe. About seven o'clock a number of persons arrived from Pine Glen, and took possession of the parsonage, and unloaded sacks and boxes and other valuables. They were soon reinforced by another company from the Snow Shoe appointment, who also came laden with abundance of good things. An oyster supper was soon made ready and several hours of pleasant intercourse enjoyed. They left the parsonage about 3:30 better off than they were before they came. The pastor's family desires to return thanks both for their presence and presents.

Council's Doings.

Although Monday was the first meeting of Council in the new year, there was a slim attendance, and very little business transacted. A petition was presented from citizens on Bishop street requesting two additional electric lights on that thoroughfare. Referred to street committee for investigation.

gation. The Borough Treasurer reported that he had purchased a 7 per cent. Borough Bond and turned it into the sinking fund.

The Street committee reported Water street stoned and all other streets in as good condition as it is possible to have them at this season of the year. The Water committee reported that one half the pipe on Logan street has been laid. Also that all pipes and plugs throughout the town are in good condition and that there is plenty of water. Adjourned.

Personal Penellings.

Mr. A. C. Williams, of Martha, was in Bellefonte on Friday attending to business. Mr. Williams and his brother Wilson Williams, are two of the most prominent and highly respected citizens of that place and it is a pleasure to meet such amiable and courteous gentlemen. Come again.

—The Chief Signal Officer has decided to distribute as widely as possible the daily weather charts, in order that the intelligent part of every community may utilize them by making special and local weather predictions, and thus supplement the official forecasts, which being for large areas of country, must necessarily be brief and very general in character. This chart is now received every morning at the post office in this place and is hung in a conspicuous place, so that those of our people who desire to keep fully posted will have the opportunity afforded.

—"Godey's Lady's Book" (the ladies' favorite) comes to us for January looking as fresh and bright as the New Year itself. Good stories fill its pages to repletion. A handsome steel plate illustration for a frontispiece cannot fail to please both old and young. If only one half of the promises made are carried out, and when we know from experience that all the publishers promise will be done, this certainly will be the most popular magazine published for 1890. Death of David Wilson.

A telephone message from Lewistown announced the death, in that place, of Mr. David Wilson which occurred at half past three o'clock Wednesday. No further particulars could be learned other than that he had only been sick a short time. Mr. Wilson will be remembered as the lineman who was in the employ of the telephone company at this place about a year ago.

A smart(?) young man of Chester Hill explained in forcible language how he would run a paper. "We don't see how some people can learn all about running a paper when they wouldn't spend two cents to buy a copy. If you will come over, Sam, we will give you full away for a day and you will probably find out that running a paper is not threshing pumpkins in Buffalo Run."—Journal.

—Hon. Leonard Rhone was taken suddenly sick in Philadelphia on Monday, where he had gone to attend a meeting of prominent grangers in that place held for the purpose of devising a new scheme for taxation. Mr. Rhone was brought to his home in this county.

Cleary Must Hang.

JUDGE MAYER OVER RULES THE PETITION FOR A NEW TRIAL AND SENTENCES

PRISONER TO HANG TILL DEAD.

How Young Cleary Now Looks and How He Took His Sentence. The Case of Wm. Brown.

A special telephone dispatch from Lock Haven to the DAILY NEWS on Tuesday afternoon conveyed the intelligence that the motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Cleary convicted of the murder of policeman Paul, in Reno, had been denied by the Court and that he had been sentenced to hang. The following full particulars are from the Lock Haven Democrat.

HOW CLEARY LOOKS.

Cleary looked a trifle pale when he sat down, but the flush on his face soon returned and he sat down well composed as any one in the room. He wore a neat, black suit and stand-up collar, with a white tie and looks as well if not better than when he was arrested and put in jail. His long confinement to such close quarters has not visibly affected him. Of course there was great curiosity to see him, but all had that pleasure, if pleasure it was, during the time he was in the court room.

Judge Mayer then reviewed the reasons presented by the prisoner's counsel for a new trial and stated that he had taken a long time to consider them and had done so with the greatest care, hoping to find some grounds that would justify him in granting the new trial asked for. But he had failed to find any such grounds that would justify him in granting the new trial asked for. But he had failed to find any such grounds, and while he greatly pitied the young prisoner and deplored the sad position in which he stood, the violated law must be vindicated. The motion for a new trial was therefore overruled.

ASKING FOR JUDGMENT.

District Attorney Brungard then asked for the rendering of judgment upon the verdict as given by the jury, upon which the Court ordered the prisoner stand up.

After some kindly remarks to the young man, the Court then proceeded to pass sentence upon him in the following words:

"Charles Cleary, the sentence of the Court is that you be taken to the jail from whence you came, and on the day appointed by the Governor, you be hanged by the neck until you are dead. May God have mercy on your soul."

Cleary received the sentence calmly, showing no emotion, whatever. His face flushed, perhaps a little more than usual, but that was all. He walked out of the court room with the Sheriff as composedly and independently as ever. Poor boy! he has yet to fully realize what is before him.

THE WM. BROWN CASE.

In the case of William Brown, charged with the murder of Wm. Lovett, the grand jury found against him a true bill and his attorneys moved for a continuance of the case to the next session of court. The commonwealth opposed and the Court settled the matter by continuing the case until Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when it will come up for trial.

—That was a terrible accusation made against William Jones at the Gregg Post meeting Monday night, namely, that he would not speak to a woman, he was so modest, unless she owed him a bill, and also, that he would chase ten cents three times around every street of Bellefonte and out into the mountains, but what he would have it, if it was his duty to collect it.

—If Alfred Andrews is innocent of the murder of Clara Price he will not be convicted as his leading attorney, Mr. J. L. Spangler, is leaving no stone unturned to procure all evidence in his favor, as well as a true history of the case, and everybody knows that anything Mr. Spangler undertakes to do is never half done but always well done.

—The Catholic fair held in the old church on Bishop street will be kept up continuously every night this week. There has been added, in addition to the numerous other valuable things to be chanced off, a handsome and very valuable organ, which will be only one dollar a chance. Go around and take your chance, reader.

—We are sorry to state that a young son of treasurer Goss is lying ill with intermittent fever, and we hope that ere long he will be convalescing.
